Columbus Police Department Launches First-Ever Podcast, Beyond the Badge

The Columbus Police Department is launching its first-ever podcast, Beyond the Badge, a new platform designed to connect the community with the officers and personnel who serve Columbus, GA. Hosted by Public Information Officer Brittany Santiago, the podcast will provide in-depth conversations about law enforcement, public safety, and the people behind the badge.

The debut episode features an exclusive interview with Police Chief Stoney Mathis. Chief Mathis will discuss his background in law enforcement, his vision for the Columbus Police Department, and his goals for the future of public safety in the city.

“Our department is committed to transparency and engagement,” said Chief Mathis. “Beyond the Badge is an opportunity to have real conversations about the work we do, the challenges we face, and how we can better serve our community.”

Future episodes will include discussions with officers from specialized units, civilian staff, and community leaders, offering a behind-the-scenes look at the department’s operations and initiatives.

Beyond the Badge will be available on platforms such as Spotify, Apple Podcasts, Amazon Music, etc. Follow the Columbus Police Department on social media for updates and episode releases.
